Netflix es uno de los principales servicios de entretenimiento del mundo —series, películas, juegos y programación en directo— y opera como un único segmento cuyos ingresos proceden principalmente de las cuotas mensuales de suscripción. [10-K 2025, pág. 4] Su estrategia declarada es crecer globalmente dentro de los parámetros de su objetivo de margen operativo. [10-K 2025, pág. 4] En 2025 superó los 325 millones de suscripciones de pago y los ingresos publicitarios se multiplicaron por más de 2,5 hasta superar los 1.500 M USD. [Proxy 2026, pág. 9] A 31/12/2025 tenía unos 16.000 empleados a tiempo completo, el 68 % de ellos en Estados Unidos y Canadá. [10-K 2025, pág. 5]

En el 2T26 los ingresos crecieron un 13 % interanual hasta 12.560 M USD y el margen operativo fue del 33,4 %, ambos en línea con la guía de la compañía. [Carta 2T26, pág. 1; 10-Q 2T26, pág. 27] El beneficio neto del trimestre fue de 3.401 M USD, 0,80 USD por acción diluida (+11 %), ligeramente por encima de la previsión. [Carta 2T26, pág. 2; 10-Q 2T26, pág. 27] El primer semestre incluye un ingreso extraordinario: la indemnización de 2.800 M USD cobrada en el primer trimestre por la terminación del acuerdo con Warner Bros. Discovery, registrada en «Interest and other income (expense)», que explica que el beneficio neto del 1T26 (5.283 M USD) no sea comparable con el de otros trimestres. [10-Q 2T26, pág. 13] En el ejercicio 2025 los ingresos fueron de 45.183 M USD (+16 %), el resultado operativo de 13.327 M USD (margen del 29,5 %) y el beneficio neto de 10.981 M USD. [10-K 2025, pág. 23] El margen operativo subió unos tres puntos porque los ingresos crecieron más que el coste de los ingresos, el marketing y los gastos generales. [10-K 2025, pág. 23]

2. Resumen ejecutivo & contexto de la tesis

Netflix es uno de los principales servicios de entretenimiento del mundo —series, películas, juegos y programación en directo— y opera como un único segmento cuyos ingresos proceden principalmente de las cuotas mensuales de suscripción. [10-K 2025, pág. 4] Su estrategia declarada es crecer globalmente dentro de los parámetros de su objetivo de margen operativo. [10-K 2025, pág. 4] En 2025 superó los 325 millones de suscripciones de pago y los ingresos publicitarios se multiplicaron por más de 2,5 hasta superar los 1.500 M USD. [Proxy 2026, pág. 9] A 31/12/2025 tenía unos 16.000 empleados a tiempo completo, el 68 % de ellos en Estados Unidos y Canadá. [10-K 2025, pág. 5]

En el 2T26 los ingresos crecieron un 13 % interanual hasta 12.560 M USD y el margen operativo fue del 33,4 %, ambos en línea con la guía de la compañía. [Carta 2T26, pág. 1; 10-Q 2T26, pág. 27] El beneficio neto del trimestre fue de 3.401 M USD, 0,80 USD por acción diluida (+11 %), ligeramente por encima de la previsión. [Carta 2T26, pág. 2; 10-Q 2T26, pág. 27] El primer semestre incluye un ingreso extraordinario: la indemnización de 2.800 M USD cobrada en el primer trimestre por la terminación del acuerdo con Warner Bros. Discovery, registrada en «Interest and other income (expense)», que explica que el beneficio neto del 1T26 (5.283 M USD) no sea comparable con el de otros trimestres. [10-Q 2T26, pág. 13] En el ejercicio 2025 los ingresos fueron de 45.183 M USD (+16 %), el resultado operativo de 13.327 M USD (margen del 29,5 %) y el beneficio neto de 10.981 M USD. [10-K 2025, pág. 23] El margen operativo subió unos tres puntos porque los ingresos crecieron más que el coste de los ingresos, el marketing y los gastos generales. [10-K 2025, pág. 23]

Para 2026 la compañía ha estrechado su previsión de ingresos a 51.000–51.400 M USD (crecimiento del 13–14 %) y mantiene un margen operativo previsto del 31,5 %, frente al 29,5 % de 2025. [Carta 2T26, pág. 2] La previsión implica un crecimiento del resultado operativo superior al 20 % en 2026, con unos 3.000 M USD de ingresos publicitarios, aproximadamente el doble que en 2025. [Carta 2T26, pág. 2] Para el 3T26 guía ingresos de 12.860 M USD (+12 %, +11 % a tipo de cambio constante) y un margen operativo del 33,2 %, frente al 28,2 % del 3T25. [Carta 2T26, pág. 2; Carta 2T26, pág. 1] Espera un flujo de caja libre de unos 12.500 M USD en 2026 y una ratio de gasto de caja en contenido sobre amortización de en torno a 1,1 veces. [Carta 2T26, pág. 6]

A 30/06/2026 la caja y equivalentes eran 9.099 M USD y la deuda bruta 14.309 M USD, con lo que la deuda neta queda en 5.181 M USD; la compañía prevé refinanciar los 1.000 M USD que vencen este año. [10-Q 2T26, pág. 34; Carta 2T26, pág. 6] En el 2T26 recompró acciones por

4.714 M USD, su mayor trimestre de recompras, y a 30/06/2026 le quedaban 27.100 M USD de autorización tras los 25.000 M USD adicionales aprobados en abril. [Carta 2T26, pág. 6; 10-Q 2T26, pág. 34] El flujo de caja operativo del 2T26 fue de 1.744 M USD y el flujo de caja libre de 1.525 M USD, por debajo del 2T25 por mayores pagos de impuestos ligados en parte a la indemnización de Warner Bros. [Carta 2T26, pág. 6; Carta 2T26, pág. 1] Nunca ha declarado ni pagado dividendos en efectivo y no prevé hacerlo: la retribución al accionista se hace por recompras. [10-K 2025, pág. 21]

3. Investment case — los 5 pilares de la tesis

1. Escala global con mercado por penetrar

La dirección cifra su audiencia en cerca de 1.000 millones de personas y su penetración por debajo del 45 % de unos 800 millones de hogares direccionables. [Call 2T26, pág. 5] Estima que captura solo un 7 % de un mercado de ingresos direccionable de unos 670.000 M USD y en torno al 5 % de la cuota de visionado de televisión global. [Call 2T26, pág. 5] En el 2T26 los ingresos crecieron a doble dígito en las cuatro regiones: UCAN 5.432 M USD (+10 %), EMEA 4.034 M USD (+14 %), LATAM 1.584 M USD (+21 %) y APAC 1.510 M USD (+16 %). [Carta 2T26, pág. 7; Carta 2T26, pág. 2] Los ingresos anuales pasaron de 33.723 M USD en 2023 a 45.183 M USD en 2025. [10-K 2025, pág. 23]

Riesgo (10-K, Item 1A): «If our efforts to attract and retain members are not successful, our business will be adversely affected», en un mercado del vídeo de entretenimiento «intensely competitive and subject to rapid change». [10-K 2025, pág. 7]

2. Palanca operativa: margen en expansión con disciplina de contenido

El margen operativo pasó del 20,6 % en 2023 al 26,7 % en 2024 y al 29,5 % en 2025. [10-K 2025, pág. 23] El coste de los ingresos bajó del 58 % de las ventas en 2023 al 52 % en 2025, aunque 2025 incluyó 1.116 M USD más de otros costes, sobre todo por liquidaciones de impuestos no sobre beneficios en Brasil. [10-K 2025, pág. 25] La dirección prevé que el gasto en contenido crezca en torno al 10 % en 2026, por encima del 8 % medio de los últimos cinco años y por debajo del 14 % de la última década, y espera que el margen operativo alcance el 31,5 %. [Call 2T26, pág. 6; Carta 2T26, pág. 2] El resultado operativo del 2T26 creció un 11 % hasta 4.193 M USD, menos que los ingresos, porque la amortización de contenido crece más en la primera mitad del año. [Carta 2T26, pág. 2]

Riesgo (10-K, Item 1A): «The long-term and largely fixed cost nature of our content commitments may limit our operating flexibility and could adversely affect our liquidity»; las obligaciones contractuales de contenido sumaban 25.107 M USD a 30/06/2026. [10-K 2025, pág. 14; 10-Q 2T26, pág. 35]

3. Nuevas palancas de monetización: publicidad, precio y directo

La publicidad, que en 2025 superó los 1.500 M USD tras multiplicarse por más de 2,5, debe rondar los 3.000 M USD en 2026 según la compañía. [Proxy 2026, pág. 9; Carta 2T26, pág. 5] Las subidas de precio del primer semestre en mercados como Estados Unidos, México y España han tenido un impacto coherente con cambios anteriores y con las expectativas de la dirección. [Carta 2T26, pág. 5] A 31/12/2025 el precio de los planes de pago iba del equivalente a 1 a 37 USD al mes, y el plan con anuncios cuesta 8,99 USD en Estados Unidos. [10-K 2025, pág. 23; Call 2T26, pág. 10] El directo supondrá algo más del 5 % del gasto en contenido de 2026 y solo alrededor del 1 % de las horas vistas, pero seis de los diez mayores días de altas de los últimos cinco años fueron eventos en directo. [Carta 2T26, pág. 3]

Riesgo (10-K, Item 1A): «Our advertising offering is subject to various risks and uncertainties, which may adversely affect our business»; la compañía reconoce «limited experience and operating history offering advertising». [10-K 2025, pág. 10]

4. Generación de caja y retribución al accionista por recompras

En 2025 el flujo de caja operativo fue de 10.149 M USD y el flujo de caja libre de 9.461 M USD, con un capex de solo 688 M USD. [10-K 2025, pág. 44] Compró 86,5 millones de acciones por 9.127 M USD en 2025 y otros 66,4 millones por 5.900 M USD en el primer semestre de 2026. [10-K 2025, pág. 29; 10-Q 2T26, pág. 34] La deuda bruta bajó de 15.583 M USD a cierre de 2024 a 14.309 M USD a 30/06/2026, y los vencimientos de principal e intereses de los próximos doce meses suman 3.149 M USD. [10-K 2025, pág. 28; 10-Q 2T26, pág. 34] La compañía se declara «constructora, no compradora» y mantiene un listón muy alto para grandes operaciones de M&A; prioriza la reinversión y devuelve el exceso de caja mediante recompras. [Call 2T26, pág. 12; Carta 2T26, pág. 6]

Riesgo (10-K, Item 1A): «We have a substantial amount of indebtedness and other obligations, including streaming content obligations», y la compañía advierte de que podría buscar capital adicional con dilución para el accionista. [10-K 2025, pág. 15]

5. Tecnología e IA en producto, producción y publicidad

Los flujos de trabajo de IA generativa se han usado en unos 300 títulos en 2026, sobre todo en posproducción, y la dirección afirma obtener mayor calidad más rápido y a menor coste que con los métodos tradicionales. [Carta 2T26, pág. 4] En la serie documental «American Experiment», 17 minutos de metraje mejorado con IA se produjeron el doble de rápido y a la mitad de coste que con las opciones anteriores. [Call 2T26, pág. 12] El gasto en tecnología y desarrollo fue de 3.391 M USD en 2025, el 8 % de los ingresos, y la compañía usa modelos de lenguaje para mejorar el descubrimiento de títulos y la búsqueda. [10-K 2025, pág. 26; Carta 2T26, pág. 4] Los jugadores activos mensuales de juegos en la nube se han multiplicado por 11 en ocho meses, en un mercado de consumo de videojuegos que la compañía cifra en unos 150.000 M USD. [Call 2T26, pág. 11]

Riesgo (10-K, Item 1A): «Any significant disruption in or unauthorized access to our computer systems or those of third parties that we utilize in our operations», incluida la dependencia de Amazon Web Services para operar partes del servicio. [10-K 2025, pág. 12; 10-K 2025, pág. 13]

Lo que la dirección dijo en la conferencia de resultados

- «We're guiding, as you say, to 12% revenue growth in Q3 reported, 11% FX neutral.» [Netflix-Inc-_Earnings-Call_2026-07-16T00_00_00_English-1.pdf, pág. 5; Spencer Adam Neumann (Chief Financial Officer); transcripción de un tercero, no depositada en la SEC]
- «We expect to deliver another strong year with, as we saw -- as you see in the guide, 13% to 14% top line growth for the full year.» [Netflix-Inc-_Earnings-Call_2026-07-16T00_00_00_English-1.pdf, pág. 5; Spencer Adam Neumann (Chief Financial Officer); transcripción de un tercero, no depositada en la SEC]
- «So live, we expect will be 5% of our content budget this year, but we think that will only be 1% of view hours.» [Netflix-Inc-_Earnings-Call_2026-07-16T00_00_00_English-1.pdf, pág. 5; Gregory K. Peters (Co-CEO, President & Director); transcripción de un tercero, no depositada en la SEC]
- «And if you compare that to another content category, take animation series, kids family TV, it's also about 5% of our content spend, so the same amount of spend, but it's going to drive, we expect 8% of view hours.» [Netflix-Inc-_Earnings-Call_2026-07-16T00_00_00_English-1.pdf, pág. 5; Gregory K. Peters (Co-CEO, President & Director); transcripción de un tercero, no depositada en la SEC]
- «So we're forecasting content expense up about 10% this year.» [Netflix-Inc-_Earnings-Call_2026-07-16T00_00_00_English-1.pdf, pág. 6; Theodore A. Sarandos (Co-CEO, President & Director); transcripción de un tercero, no depositada en la SEC]

- Rentabilidades sobre saldos medios (cierre y cierre anterior); requieren el balance del ejercicio anterior. Los formularios no publican ROE, ROA ni ROIC: se calculan con las cifras de los cuadros anteriores y, el ROE, con la definición que el 10-K da para su plan de incentivos.

Cuadro 12. Rentabilidad de los últimos doce meses (3T25–2T26) frente al agregador

	Valor	Cálculo	Agregador
ROE (TTM)	49,5 %	13.650 / ((24.952 + 30.152) / 2)	49,5 %
ROA (TTM)	24,5 %	13.650 / ((53.100 + 58.450) / 2)	16,1 %

Fuente: beneficio neto TTM y saldos medios de la SEC (sección C y companyfacts); Yahoo Finance publica ROE y ROA TTM y se imprimen al lado.

- ROA (TTM): el agregador publica 16,1 % para el ROA TTM; su definición no está publicada.
- Los formularios de la compañía no publican ROE, ROA ni ROIC como cifras; el 10-K define el ROE (beneficio después de impuestos / patrimonio medio) para su plan de incentivos y esa es la definición que se aplica. El ROIC no lo publica ninguna fuente: solo la fórmula del cuadro anterior.

17. Valoración por múltiplos — PER, EV/EBITDA, EV/Ventas, P/FCF, PEG

Cuadro 20. Valoración por múltiplos (del analista)

	Base de cálculo	Múltiplo actual (precio del libro)	Actual sobre cotización oficial	Múltiplo objetivo	Valor por acción (USD)	Origen del múltiplo (del analista)
PER 2026E subyacente (ex comisión WBD)	3,01	26,7x	24,4x	29,0x	87,29	29x: por debajo de la media de 5 años de la propia compañía (~40x) y de las 33x a las que cotiza Spotify con margen operativo muy inferior. BPA 2026E subyacente: consenso de 3,59 USD menos el efecto por acción de la comisión de WBD después de impuestos.
PER 2027E	3,95	20,3x	18,6x	26,0x	102,70	26x: compresión del múltiplo 2026 conforme avanza el margen; equivale a mantener el PEG en torno a 1. BPA 2027E: estimación propia derivada del caso base, no del consenso.
P/FCF 2026E subyacente	9.700	34,5x	31,5x	38,0x	87,76	38x: media aproximada de los últimos doce meses de la propia compañía sobre FCF subyacente. FCF 2026E subyacente: guía de 12.500 M USD menos los 2.800 M de la comisión de rescisión de WBD.
EV/Ventas 2026E	51.192	6,7x	N/A	7,5x	89,62	7,5x: entre las 6,67x actuales y el techo del rango histórico de NFLX; muy por encima de Spotify (4,94x) y Disney (2,29x) por margen. Ingresos 2026E: caso base (45.183 x 1,133), dentro de la guía de 51.000-51.400 M USD.
Rango por múltiplos (mín. – máx.)					87,29 – 102,70

21. Tamaño de mercado — TAM / SAM / SOM

La compañía sitúa su mercado total en unos 800 millones de hogares direccionables y en unos 670.000 M USD de ingresos direccionables en los países y categorías en los que opera hoy. [Call 2T26, pág. 5] De ese mercado captura, según sus propias cifras, menos del 45 % de los hogares y en torno al 7 % de los ingresos, con alrededor del 5 % de la cuota de visionado de televisión global. [Call 2T26, pág. 5] Su audiencia se aproxima a 1.000 millones de personas y en 2025 superó los 325 millones de suscripciones de pago. [Call 2T26, pág. 5; Proxy 2026, pág. 9] En el mercado adyacente de los videojuegos la dirección cita un gasto de consumo de unos 150.000 M USD, sin China ni Rusia y sin contar publicidad. [Call 2T26, pág. 11]

El mercado obtenido —lo que la compañía factura— fueron 45.183 M USD en 2025 y 24.810 M USD en el primer semestre de 2026, con 12.560 M USD en el 2T26. [10-K 2025, pág. 23; 10-Q 2T26, pág. 26] Los adjuntos no descomponen el mercado con las etiquetas TAM, SAM y SOM ni dan el mercado direccionable por región: lo impreso es lo que la dirección declaró en la conferencia de resultados, que habla de mucho recorrido de crecimiento por delante. [Call 2T26, pág. 5]

22. Análisis competitivo — Competidores, cuotas de mercado y comparables

El 10-K describe el mercado del vídeo de entretenimiento como intensamente competitivo y sujeto a cambios rápidos, y enumera como competidores la televisión lineal, otros servicios de streaming (incluidos los de contenido pirata), los videojuegos, las plataformas de contenido abierto y las redes sociales. [10-K 2025, pág. 4] También compite por la obtención de contenido, licenciado y original, con otros proveedores de vídeo y productores. [10-K 2025, pág. 4] Las únicas cuotas que los adjuntos cuantifican son las que declara la propia compañía: alrededor del 5 % del visionado de televisión global y un 7 % del mercado de ingresos direccionable. [Call 2T26, pág. 5]

Según la dirección, los suscriptores estadounidenses pagan lo mínimo por hora de visionado frente a ofertas SVOD comparables y en algunos casos pagarían el doble por un servicio competidor. [Call 2T26, pág. 10] La transcripción recoge que el sector lleva más de diez años consolidándose y que la compañía se considera constructora, no compradora. [Call 2T26, pág. 11; Call 2T26, pág. 12] El 10-K no nombra competidores concretos ni publica cuotas de mercado de terceros; los comparables que siguen son los valores que la bolsa agrupa con la compañía, no una selección del sistema. 23. Ventajas competitivas & moat — Barreras de entrada y sostenibilidad

La compañía atribuye su ventaja a la escala: la mayor audiencia y la más comprometida del mundo, que amortiza la programación sobre una base global y le da, según dice, mejor retorno por título y liderazgo en monetización. [Call 2T26, pág. 11] Invierte miles de millones al año en tecnología —3.391 M USD en 2025— y cita como resultado el descubrimiento y la personalización, además de su propia red de entrega de contenido, Open Connect. [Call 2T26, pág. 11; 10-K 2025, pág. 26; 10-K 2025, pág. 25] Los planes de pago iban del equivalente a 1 a 37 USD al mes a 31/12/2025 y la dirección afirma una retención líder en la industria. [10-K 2025, pág. 23; Call 2T26, pág. 10] El contenido no inglés supuso más de un tercio del visionado en el primer semestre de 2026 y la compañía produce series y películas en más de 50 países. [Carta 2T26, pág. 3; Carta 2T26, pág. 6]

Sostenibilidad: el propio 10-K advierte de que estudios y titulares de derechos pueden negarse a licenciar contenido en términos aceptables, y de que atraer y retener miembros es condición del negocio. [10-K 2025, pág. 11; 10-K 2025, pág. 7] El foso exige seguir gastando: las obligaciones de contenido sumaban 25.107 M USD a 30/06/2026, 11.940 M USD de ellas exigibles en los próximos doce meses. [10-Q 2T26, pág. 35]

G. Riesgos & due diligence

24. Riesgos principales — Regulatorio, financiero, competitivo y ejecución

Los epígrafes son los del Item 1A del 10-K, literales y completos, leídos por su tipografía (negrita) y con su página. La familia (regulatorio · financiero · competitivo · ejecución) es clasificación del sistema; su motivo y su certeza, en el atributo de cada epígrafe del HTML emitido junto a este PDF. Un epígrafe rotulado «superado» se refiere a una operación que un 10-Q posterior da por terminada.

Cuadro 28. Riesgos regulatorios

	Epígrafe del 10-K (literal)	Página
Our Business	If we fail to maintain a positive reputation concerning our service and the content we offer, including any advertisements, we may not be able to attract or retain members, we may face regulatory scrutiny and our operating results may be adversely affected.	pág. 8
Our Business	If government regulations relating to the internet or other areas of our business change, we may need to alter the manner in which we conduct our business, or incur greater operating expenses.	pág. 10
Our Business	We are engaged in legal proceedings that could cause us to incur unforeseen expenses and could occupy a significant amount of our management's time and attention.	pág. 10
Privacy	Privacy concerns could limit our ability to collect and leverage member personal information and disclosure of member personal information could adversely impact our business and reputation.	pág. 14
Privacy	Our reputation and relationships with members would be harmed if member personal information, particularly billing data, were to be accessed by unauthorized persons.	pág. 14
International Operations	We could be subject to economic, political, regulatory and other risks arising from our international operations.	pág. 15
International Operations	We are subject to taxation related risks in multiple jurisdictions.	pág. 16

25. Bear case — Qué tendría que salir mal para invalidar la tesis

Primero, el riesgo del Item 1A que el apartado 3 asocia a cada pilar; después, lo que los adjuntos dicen sobre lo que podría salir mal.

- Escala global con mercado por penetrar — Riesgo (10-K, Item 1A): «If our efforts to attract and retain members are not successful, our business will be adversely affected», en un mercado del vídeo de entretenimiento «intensely competitive and subject to rapid change». [10-K 2025, pág. 7]
- Palanca operativa: margen en expansión con disciplina de contenido — Riesgo (10-K, Item 1A): «The long-term and largely fixed cost nature of our content commitments may limit our operating flexibility and could adversely affect our liquidity»; las obligaciones contractuales de contenido sumaban 25.107 M USD a 30/06/2026. [10-K 2025, pág. 14; 10-Q 2T26, pág. 35]
- Nuevas palancas de monetización: publicidad, precio y directo — Riesgo (10-K, Item 1A): «Our advertising offering is subject to various risks and uncertainties, which may adversely affect our business»; la compañía reconoce «limited experience and operating history offering advertising». [10-K 2025, pág. 10]
- Generación de caja y retribución al accionista por recompras — Riesgo (10-K, Item 1A): «We have a substantial amount of indebtedness and other obligations, including streaming content obligations», y la compañía advierte de que podría buscar capital adicional con dilución para el accionista. [10-K 2025, pág. 15]
- Tecnología e IA en producto, producción y publicidad — Riesgo (10-K, Item 1A): «Any significant disruption in or unauthorized access to our computer systems or those of third parties that we utilize in our operations», incluida la dependencia de Amazon Web Services para operar partes del servicio. [10-K 2025, pág. 12; 10-K 2025, pág. 13]

El bear case documentado es el que la propia compañía enumera entre sus riesgos: no atraer ni retener miembros, no competir con eficacia por el ocio del consumidor, no mejorar la variedad y la calidad de la oferta, y que la adopción del plan con anuncios y del pago compartido no cumpla. [Carta 2T26, pág. 8] En cifras, la tesis descansa en la guía de 51.000–51.400 M USD de ingresos y 31,5 % de margen operativo para 2026 y en unos 3.000 M USD de publicidad; la carta advierte de que las previsiones son su estimación interna y de que los resultados reales variarán. [Carta 2T26, pág. 2; Carta 2T26, pág. 8] Las horas vistas crecieron un 2 % en el primer semestre de 2026 y la compañía dejará de publicar su informe de visionado con los resultados para hacerlo una vez al año desde 2027: un deterioro del engagement sería menos visible para el inversor. [Carta 2T26, pág. 3; Carta 2T26, pág. 5]

El coste del contenido es fijo y a largo plazo: 25.107 M USD de obligaciones, de las que 19.600 M USD no están en balance, y una amortización de contenido que crecerá en torno al 10 % en 2026. [10-Q 2T26, pág. 35; Carta 2T26, pág. 2] La deuda bruta es de 14.309 M USD y el 10-K advierte de que la compañía podría captar capital con dilución para el accionista y de que su acción es volátil. [10-Q 2T26, pág. 34; 10-K 2025, pág. 15; 10-K 2025, pág. 17] El primer semestre de 2026 incluyó 2.800 M USD no recurrentes por la terminación del acuerdo con WBD y 729 M USD de pagos no rutinarios por liquidaciones fiscales en Brasil; ninguno de los dos se repite. [10-Q 2T26, pág. 13; 10-Q 2T26, pág. 36] En los últimos cuatro trimestres el BPA quedó por debajo del consenso en dos, el 3T25 y el 1T26, según la tabla de estimaciones de la portada de la transcripción. [Call 2T26, pág. 1]

Lo que la compañía dijo de su propia previsión

- «Q2 Results and Forecast Q2 revenue of $12.6B was in-line with forecast and grew 13% year over year (+12% on a foreign exchange (F/X) neutral basis), driven primarily by membership growth, pricing and increased ad revenue.» [FINAL-Q2-26-Shareholder-Letter.pdf, pág. 2]
- «Q2 operating income and margin were slightly ahead of forecast due to the timing of expenses.» [FINAL-Q2-26-Shareholder-Letter.pdf, pág. 2]
- «Diluted EPS for the quarter amounted to $0.80 vs. $0.72 in Q2'25 (+11% year over year), slightly above our forecast.» [FINAL-Q2-26-Shareholder-Letter.pdf, pág. 2]

Fuente: Nasdaq (web del mercado), consultada el 22/09/2026 05:06 (la bolsa lo publica; el depósito original no se ha cruzado con EDGAR). Cadena completa (2480 filas); «LAST TRADE: $73.36 (AS OF SEP 21, 2026)». El volumen es el de la sesión en curso y el interés abierto el del cierre anterior. Put/Call = puts / calls (al pasar el ratón, las cifras). Sin volatilidad implícita: la bolsa no la publica.

Sesgo implícito: la bolsa no publica volatilidad implícita por strike; con sus datos el único sesgo afirmable es el reparto de volumen e interés abierto entre puts y calls. La volatilidad implícita por vencimiento y su sesgo put – call están en el apartado 32.

32. Posicionamiento en derivados — IV, Open Interest (Put/Call ratio), volumen y sesgo implícito Fuente: Yahoo Finance (agregador, no oficial; excepción autorizada por el analista), precio del subyacente según el agregador a las 22:00 (hora local). La bolsa (Nasdaq) no publica IV; el analista autorizó Yahoo Finance como excepción provisional (17/09/2026). ATM: el strike más cercano al subyacente; 90 % y 110 %: los strikes más cercanos a esos niveles. El sesgo es IV put 90 % – IV call 110 %. «OI cuadra con la bolsa»: el interés abierto total del vencimiento según el agregador frente al de la bolsa (cuadro de la cadena), dentro del 2 %; cuando no cuadra, la IV de ese vencimiento no se imprime.

Lectura del sesgo: un sesgo positivo (la put fuera del dinero más cara que la call fuera del dinero) es el habitual en renta variable; el signo y la magnitud por vencimiento son los del cuadro, sin interpretación añadida. El coste de cobertura es la prima de la put, que el agregador trae por contrato (cuerpo guardado) y no se resume aquí.

ABOUT US

Netflix, Inc. ("Netflix", the "Company", "registrant", "we", or "us") is one of the world's leading entertainment services offering TV series, films, games and live programming across a wide variety of genres and languages. Members can play, pause and resume watching as much as they want, anytime, anywhere, and can change their plans at any time.

Our core strategy is to grow our business globally within the parameters of our operating margin target. We strive to continuously improve our members' experience by offering compelling content that delights them and attracts new members. We aim to offer a range of pricing plans, including our ad-supported subscription plan, to meet a variety of consumer needs. We seek to drive conversation around our content to further enhance member joy, and we are continuously enhancing our user interface to help our members more easily choose content that they will find enjoyable.

BUSINESS SEGMENTS

We operate as one operating segment. Our revenues are primarily derived from monthly membership fees for services related to streaming content to our members. See Note 13, Segment and Geographic Information, in the accompanying notes to our consolidated financial statements for further detail.

Netflix 2025 Year in Review

Business Highlights

In 2025, we surpassed 325 million paid memberships, achieved approximately $45.2 billion in revenue, representing approximately 16% year-over-year growth, and over $13.3 billion of operating income, as well as increased our net cash provided by operating activities to over $10.1 billion. We also made great progress growing advertising revenue, which rose more than 2.5 times to over $1.5 billion. Engagement also remained strong in 2025 with members watching 96 billion hours on Netflix in the second half of 2025.

- Fellow shareholders,
- Our financial performance remains solid and we're on track to meet our objectives for the year:
 - Q2 revenue grew 13% year over year (+12% on a FX-neutral basis¹) to $12.6B, and operating margin was 33%. Both were in-line with our guidance.
 - For 2026, we've narrowed our forecasted revenue range to $51.0-$51.4B and continue to forecast an operating margin of 31.5%, both consistent with our prior guidance.
 - We're delivering increasing value to our members; engagement is healthy, reflecting the quality, quantity, and variety of our offering:
 - Harlan Coben's I Will Find You is our most viewed new original series debut in 2026 and Swapped is on its way to becoming our second most viewed original animated film ever.
 - View hours grew +2% in H1'26 vs. +1.5% growth in 2025, despite the competitive impact of the Winter Olympics and the World Cup this year.
 - To better satisfy members, we're continuing to expand the variety of our entertainment offering with video podcasts, creators like Danny Gol and Salish & Jordan Matter, and cloud TV games.
 - The results of our recent price changes are consistent with prior changes and our expectations.
 - We are leveraging AI to provide a more personalized, immersive and interactive experience for members, enhance ads capabilities for brands, and improve the quality of our series and films.
 - The entertainment industry remains dynamic and competitive. We aim to stay ahead by executing against our three areas of focus: delivering more entertainment value, leveraging technology to improve every aspect of our service, and improving monetization.

Our summary results, and forecast for Q3, are below.

34.1% in Q2 '25. Q2 operating income and margin were slightly ahead of forecast due to the timing of expenses. As we noted in previous letters, operating income in Q2 grew slower than revenue because our content amortization growth is higher in the first half of the year; we continue to expect content amortization to grow slower in the second half of the year and to increase ~10% for 2026. Diluted EPS for the quarter amounted to $0.80 vs. $0.72 in Q2'25 (+11% year over year), slightly above our forecast.

As a reminder, the guidance we provide is our actual internal forecast at the time we report and we strive for accuracy. Our primary financial metrics are revenue for growth and operating margin for profitability. Our goal is to sustain healthy revenue growth, expand operating profit and margin, and deliver growing free cash flow.

For Q3, we expect revenue growth of 12% (or 11% F/X neutral) driven by growth in memberships, pricing, and ad revenue. We project an operating margin of 33.2% compared with 28.2% in the year ago quarter.

Our 2026 outlook is consistent with our prior forecast: we are narrowing our revenue forecast to $51.0-$51.4B, which represents 13%-14% growth (~12% F/X neutral), driven by growth in memberships and pricing, and a projected rough doubling of our ads revenue to approximately $3 billion. We continue to anticipate an operating margin of 31.5% for 2026 both on a reported basis and based on F/X rates as of January 1, 2026 vs. 29.5% in 2025. Our forecast implies annual operating income growth of 20%+ for 2026.

Our Focus

As we outlined in our last letter, we have three main areas of focus:

On February 27, 2026, WBD provided notice to the Company that it had terminated the Amended and Restated Merger Agreement in accordance with its terms in order to enter into an Agreement and Plan of Merger with Paramount Skydance Corporation ("PSKY"). Concurrently with the termination of the Amended and Restated Merger Agreement and entry into such agreement between WBD and PSKY, PSKY, on behalf of WBD, paid a $2.8 billion termination fee owed to Netflix in accordance with the terms of the Amended and Restated Merger Agreement. The $2.8 billion termination fee received was recorded in "Interest and other income (expense)" in the Company's Consolidated Statements of Operations during the first quarter of 2026.

(1) During the year ended December 31, 2025, we discontinued the reporting of membership numbers, including average paying memberships and average monthly revenue per paying membership, focusing instead on revenue and operating margin as the primary financial metrics that we believe best represent our business performance.

(2) We discontinued our DVD-by-mail service in the year ended December 31, 2023. The discontinuance of our DVD business had an immaterial impact on our operations and financial results.

(3) See the "Non-GAAP Constant Currency Information" section below for additional details on our use of constant currency revenue.

Operating margin for the year ended December 31, 2025 increased by approximately three percentage points as compared to the prior comparative period, primarily driven by the growth in revenues outpacing the growth in cost of revenues, sales and marketing, and general and administrative expenses.

Net income for the year ended December 31, 2025 increased $2,270 million as compared to the prior comparative period, primarily due to a $2,909 million increase in operating income, driven by a $6,182 million increase in revenues and partially offset by a $2,237 million increase in cost of revenues.

Cash Flow and Capital Structure

Net cash generated from operating activities was $1.7B vs $2.4B in the prior year period. Free cash flow (FCF)⁶ in Q2'26 totaled $1.5B vs. $2.3B in Q2'25. This included higher cash tax payments due in part to the Warner Bros. termination fee. For the full year, we continue to expect FCF of approximately $12.5B, and an annual cash content spend to amortization ratio of ~1.1x.

Our capital allocation approach is unchanged. We prioritize reinvestment in the business, both organically and through selective M&A, while maintaining a healthy balance sheet and ample liquidity, and then returning excess cash to shareholders via share repurchases. In April, our Board of Directors authorized the repurchase of an additional $25B of our stock on top of the $6.8B of capacity we had remaining as of the end of Q1. In Q2, we bought back $4.7B of stock, our largest quarter of share repurchases, and we currently have $27.1B of capacity left in our remaining authorizations. We ended the quarter with gross debt of $14.4B and cash and cash equivalents of $9.1B. We have $1B of debt maturing later this year, which we plan to refinance.

through the year, we're making strong progress against our goals, and we're tracking to our financial plan for 2026. We expect to deliver another strong year with, as we saw -- as you see in the guide, 13% to 14% top line growth for the full year. That's roughly 12% FX neutral or about $6 billion of incremental revenue year-over-year.
And by the way, when we finish 2026, it's worth saying also that in many ways, we're still just getting started as a company. We're entertaining an audience approaching 1 billion people with still lots of room to grow into our addressable market on every measure. We're under 45% penetrated into addressable households around the world. It's roughly 800 million addressable households. We're capturing, we think, just 7% of addressable revenue market. It's about $670 billion of addressable revenue in the countries and categories in which we operate today. And we estimate that we're only about 5% of TV view share globally. So we're delivering on our 2026 plan, and we believe we've got lots and lots of runway for solid growth ahead of us.

Q2 Results and Forecast

Q2 revenue of $12.6B was in-line with forecast and grew 13% year over year (+12% on a foreign exchange (F/X) neutral basis), driven primarily by membership growth, pricing and increased ad revenue. We delivered double digit revenue growth in all regions, surpassing the quarterly revenue mark of $4.0B in EMEA and $1.5B in both LATAM and APAC. In UCAN, Q2 revenue growth of 10% reflects only a partial quarter impact from our recent price change, which has gone well and as expected.

Operating income in Q2 was $4.2B, up 11% year over year, and operating margin was 33.4% versus 34.1% in Q2'25. Q2 operating income and margin were slightly ahead of forecast due to the timing of expenses. As we noted in previous letters, operating income in Q2 grew slower than revenue because our content amortization growth is higher in the first half of the year; we continue to expect content amortization to grow slower in the second half of the year and to increase ~10% for 2026. Cash, cash equivalents, restricted cash and short-term investments increased $64 million in the six months ended June 30, 2026, primarily due to cash provided by operations, which includes the receipt of a $2.8 billion termination fee in connection with the termination of the WBD transaction in the first quarter of 2026, partially offset by repurchases of stock and cash paid for acquisitions. See Note 6 Acquisitions for further information.
Debt, net of debt issuance costs and discounts, decreased $154 million primarily due to the renegotiation of our Euro-denominated notes in the six months ended June 30, 2026. The amount of principal and interest on our outstanding notes due in the next twelve months is $3,149 million. See Note 7 Debt in the accompanying notes to our consolidated financial statements.

Uses of Cash
Our primary uses of cash include the acquisition, licensing and production of content, marketing programs, streaming delivery, and personnel-related costs. Cash payment terms for non-original content have historically been in line with the amortization period. Investments in original content, and in particular content that we produce and own, require more cash upfront relative to licensed content. For example, production costs are paid as the content is created, well in advance of when the content is available on the service and amortized. We expect to continue to significantly invest in global content, particularly in original content, which will impact our liquidity. Our other uses of cash include strategic acquisitions and investments, as well as share repurchases.

Financing Arrangements
On April 12, 2024, we entered into a five-year, $3 billion unsecured revolving credit facility that matures on April 12, 2029 (the "Revolving Credit Agreement"). In May 2025, we established a $3 billion commercial paper program (the "Commercial Paper Program") under which we may issue short-term unsecured commercial paper notes. As of June 30, 2026, no amounts have been borrowed under the Revolving Credit Agreement or the Commercial Paper Program.

On February 27, 2026, upon the termination of the Amended and Restated Merger Agreement, all related financing arrangements to fund the previously proposed WBD transaction were terminated in accordance with their respective terms. No amounts had been borrowed under any of the financing arrangements and the related expenses were not material.

We anticipate that we may periodically raise additional debt capital. Our ability to obtain this or any additional financing that we may choose or need, including for the refinancing of upcoming maturities or potential strategic acquisitions and investments, will depend on, among other things, our development efforts, business plans, operating performance and the condition of the capital markets at the time we seek financing. We may not be able to obtain such financing on terms acceptable to us or at all. If we raise additional funds through the issuance of equity or debt securities, those securities may have rights, preferences or privileges senior to the rights of our common stock, and our stockholders may experience dilution.

Share Repurchases
In March 2021, the Company's Board of Directors authorized a share repurchase program for the Company's common stock with no expiration date. The Board subsequently approved additional repurchase authorizations in September 2023 and December 2024, and most recently in April 2026, authorized the repurchase of an additional $25 billion of the Company's common stock. Stock repurchases may be effected through open market repurchases in compliance with Rule 10b-18 under the Exchange Act, including through the use of trading plans intended to qualify under Rule 10b5-1 under the Exchange Act, privately-negotiated transactions, accelerated stock repurchase plans, block purchases, or other similar purchase techniques and in such amounts as management deems appropriate.

Operating margin for the year ended December 31, 2025 increased by approximately three percentage points as compared to the prior comparative period, primarily driven by the growth in revenues outpacing the growth in cost of revenues, sales and marketing, and general and administrative expenses.

Net income for the year ended December 31, 2025 increased $2,270 million as compared to the prior comparative period, primarily due to a $2,909 million increase in operating income, driven by a $6,182 million increase in revenues and partially offset by a $2,237 million increase in cost of revenues primarily due to the increase in content amortization and other cost of revenues. The impact of higher operating income was partially offset by a $487 million increase in the provision for income taxes.

Revenues
We primarily derive revenues from monthly membership fees for services related to streaming content to our members. We offer a variety of streaming membership plans, the price of which varies by country and the features of the plan. As of December 31, 2025, pricing on our paid plans ranged from the U.S. dollar equivalent of $1 to $37 per month, and pricing on our extra member sub accounts ranged from the U.S. dollar equivalent of $2 to $9 per month. We expect that from time to time the prices of our membership plans in each country may change and we may test other plan and price variations.

The increase in cost of revenues for the year ended December 31, 2025 as compared to the year ended December 31, 2024 was primarily due to a $1,121 million increase in content amortization relating to our existing and new content, coupled with a $1,116 million increase in other cost of revenues, primarily driven by non-income tax assessments in Brazil. We do not expect that non-income taxes incurred in Brazil will materially impact our cost of operations in future periods. See Note 9 Commitments and Contingencies in the accompanying notes to our consolidated financial statements for further detail on our non-income tax matters.

track record, more than a decade of translating those investments into value for our members and returns for the business. I'm going to come back to that core in just a second.

But the second one is that we're really disciplined investors. So there isn't some hyper acceleration of content investment. We grow the content spend slower than revenue while we're continuing to invest in a huge addressable market. So we're forecasting content expense up about 10% this year. It's a little higher than the 8% we averaged over the last 5 years and below the 14% that we averaged over the past decade.

In 2025, we surpassed 325 million paid memberships, achieved approximately $45.2 billion in revenue, representing approximately 16% year-over-year growth, and over $13.3 billion of operating income, as well as increased our net cash provided by operating activities to over $10.1 billion. We also made great progress growing advertising revenue, which rose more than 2.5 times to over $1.5 billion. Engagement also remained strong in 2025 with members watching 96 billion hours on Netflix in the second half of 2025.

advertisers over time. These investments enhance the value of our existing inventory and lay the groundwork for the next phase of growth in our ads business.

Third, improving monetization.

Building out our ads business continues to be a top priority and we remain on track to deliver approximately $3 billion in ads revenue in 2026. Our US upfront negotiations are in advanced stages, and we expect commitments to close in the next few weeks. We are seeing strong interest in our Live events lineup — Women's World Cup, an expanded NFL slate, WWE, MLB events and more — alongside continued demand for our unparalleled breadth of entertainment titles. The growth in our ads business is being fueled by the strength and variety of our slate combined with our investments in AI powered tools and workflows, the Netflix Ads Suite and broader programmatic capabilities.

We offer a wide range of plans and feature sets at accessible price points to provide the best value for members. As we expand and improve our entertainment offering, we occasionally adjust prices so that we can reinvest in our service. Our first half price changes, in markets like the US, Mexico and Spain, have gone well with the impact consistent with prior price changes and our expectations.

of this year, and they help us determine that timing and magnitude that you're getting at. I think also I would be remiss if I didn't use this opportunity to state that I believe that we are delivering one of the best entertainment values that has ever existed.

As a comparison point, if you go to the U.S. and you take what Netflix subscribers are paying, they pay the least per hour of viewing compared to comparable SVOD offerings. In some cases, they would have to pay twice as much per hour for a competitive service. And our ads plan at $8.99 in the United States, we think, is an amazing entry point. It's an incredible value, highly accessible. If you think about all the entertainment you get for that, it's a pretty good deal.

in addition to a high-quality slate, we also need a wide variety of programming because we serve a massive audience (approaching 1B people) with broad and diverse tastes, moods and needs. Different types of content impact our business differently — some drive more acquisition, some primarily aid retention, and some make the service feel indispensable. For example, in 2026, we expect live programming to account for just over 5% of our content spend but only ~1% of view hours. Yet, live event programming accounted for six of the top 10 new member sign-up days over the last five years (and we've only been doing live events since 2023).

Cash, cash equivalents, restricted cash and short-term investments increased $64 million in the six months ended June 30, 2026, primarily due to cash provided by operations, which includes the receipt of a $2.8 billion termination fee in connection with the termination of the WBD transaction in the first quarter of 2026, partially offset by repurchases of stock and cash paid for acquisitions. See Note 6 Acquisitions for further information.

Debt, net of debt issuance costs and discounts, decreased $154 million primarily due to the remeasurement of our Euro-denominated notes in the six months ended June 30, 2026. The amount of principal and interest on our outstanding notes due in the next twelve months is $3,149 million. See Note 7 Debt in the accompanying notes to our consolidated financial statements.

Uses of Cash

Our primary uses of cash include the acquisition, licensing and production of content, marketing programs, streaming delivery, and personnel-related costs. Cash payment terms for non-original content have historically been in line with the amortization period. Investments in original content, and in particular content that we produce and own, require more cash upfront relative to licensed content. For example, production costs are paid as the content is created, well in advance of when the content is available on the service and amortized. We expect to continue to significantly invest in global content, particularly in original content, which will impact our liquidity. Our other uses of cash include strategic acquisitions and investments, as well as share repurchases.

Financing Arrangements

On April 12, 2024, we entered into a five-year, $3 billion unsecured revolving credit facility that matures on April 12, 2029 (the "Revolving Credit Agreement"). In May 2025, we established a $3 billion commercial paper program (the "Commercial Paper Program") under which we may issue short-term unsecured commercial paper notes. As of June 30, 2026, no amounts have been borrowed under the Revolving Credit Agreement or the Commercial Paper Program.

On February 27, 2026, upon the termination of the Amended and Restated Merger Agreement, all related financing arrangements to fund the previously proposed WBD transaction were terminated in accordance with their respective terms. No amounts had been borrowed under any of the financing arrangements and the related expenses were not material.

We anticipate that we may periodically raise additional debt capital. Our ability to obtain this or any additional financing that we may choose or need, including for the refinancing of upcoming maturities or potential strategic acquisitions and investments, will depend on, among other things, our development efforts, business plans, operating performance and the condition of the capital markets at the time we seek financing. We may not be able to obtain such financing on terms acceptable to us or at all. If we raise additional funds through the issuance of equity or debt securities, those securities may have rights, preferences or privileges senior to the rights of our common stock, and our stockholders may experience dilution.

Share Repurchases

In March 2021, the Company's Board of Directors authorized a share repurchase program for the Company's common stock with no expiration date. The Board subsequently approved additional repurchase authorizations in September 2023 and December 2024, and most recently in April 2026, authorized the repurchase of an additional $25 billion of the Company's common stock. Stock repurchases may be effected through open market repurchases in compliance with Rule 10b-18 under the Exchange Act, including through the use of trading plans intended to qualify under Rule 10b5-1 under the Exchange Act, privately-negotiated transactions, accelerated stock repurchase plans, block purchases, or other similar purchase techniques and in such amounts as management deems appropriate. We are not obligated to repurchase any specific number of shares, and the timing and actual number of shares repurchased will depend on a variety of factors, including our stock price, general economic, business and market conditions, and alternative investment opportunities. We may discontinue any repurchases of our common stock at any time without prior notice. During the six months ended June 30, 2026, the Company repurchased 66,431,796 shares of common stock for an aggregate amount of $5.9 billion (excluding the 1% excise tax on stock repurchases as a result of the Inflation Reduction Act of 2022). As of June 30, 2026, $27.1 billion remains available for repurchases.

So today, our talent leverages tools for things like set references and pre-vis and VFX and sequence prep and shot planning, which all makes the production itself so much more smooth and efficient and fast. And that's just the beginning. We're seeing it across the entire production life cycle and AI -- those use cases are scaling faster and faster. So our documentary series we just released called American Experiment. That series features 17 minutes of AI-enhanced footage. It enabled us to expand the scope of the series in ways that just wouldn't have been feasible before. Those 17 minutes, Sean, they were produced twice as fast and at half the cost of previous options.

So by equipping creators with these tools, we believe they're going to enhance their abilities, and we are going to have better and more impact for every dollar we spend on our programming. So content creation time lines can be shortened and quality can be enhanced. And we're constantly seeking ways to allocate our resources in the most attractive options to maximize value for our members and delivering for a return for our investors. As we've said, we are primarily builders, not buyers, and that remains the case today. So others will speculate about our intent to -- here because they have their own reasons for that. But our track record is clear that we have a very high bar to do any big M&A.

Spencer Wang
Vice President of Finance, Corporate Development & Investor Relations

Thanks, Ted. We have time for one last question, and we'll take that from [Dan Kurnos] of StoneX. And it's a question around capital allocation. Given recent reports around Lionsgate that Netflix has denied and broader speculation around interest in NBCUniversal, how should investors think about the line between opportunistic IP and library acquisitions and larger-scale M&A that could change Netflix's capital allocation or strategic profile?

Theodore A. Sarandos
Co-CEO, President & Director

Well, I'll take this, if you don't mind, guys. Dan, we're not going to comment on market speculation, but I'd like to take the opportunity to remind everyone about our core philosophy. We have multiple ways to achieve our goals, producing, licensing, partnering, and we're constantly seeking ways to allocate our resources in the most attractive options to maximize value for our members and delivering for a return for our investors. As we've said, we are primarily builders, not buyers, and that remains the case today. So others will speculate about our intent to -- here because they have their own reasons for that. But our track record is clear that we have a very high bar to do any big M&A.

Second, leveraging technology to improve every aspect of our service and our business.

To support our growing content offering, we continue to evolve our product to create more personalized, immersive, and interactive experiences for our members. We are leveraging LLMs to improve title discovery and to better understand member preferences. We're also enhancing search for our members with new voice search functionality and AI-powered natural language search.

Across the production lifecycle, from concept and pre-visualization through post and delivery, GenAI utilization by our creative partners is scaling quickly. In 2026, GenAI workflows have been used in roughly 300 of our titles, with the largest concentration of work in post-production. We are increasingly leveraging these tools to deliver higher quality output more quickly and at a lower cost than traditional methods. In some cases, productions would have had to leave out key shots and sequences in the absence of GenAI technology. For example, Glory (India), Brasil 70: A Saga do Tri (Brazil), and The strategy this year, including the addition of several new titles. How are these games performing on the platform so far? And how should we expect the video game offering to evolve going forward?

Gregory K. Peters
Co-CEO, President & Director

Yes, I'll start by reminding folks of the market opportunity here. This is roughly $150 billion in consumer spend ex China, ex Russia, doesn't include ads revenue. We've been building some solid foundations and now we're seeing exciting positive signals that help inform and give us increased conviction in our future growth and the nature of that growth here. So you mentioned the cloud-based strategy, those cloud-based TV games, we really see it working. FIFA and Unhinged became our 2 most successful cloud game debuts, really solid numbers that put it in the top tier of game performance for us.

Another big positive sign is that since last October, so 8 months ago, when we really sort of scaled up this cloud initiative, monthly active players for cloud games have increased 11x and adoption is significantly ahead of that curve that we had for mobile games with even higher retention value. So we're definitely excited about that and focused on scaling up cloud games.

If our efforts to attract and retain members are not successful, our business will be adversely affected.

We must continually add new members both to replace canceled memberships and to grow our business beyond our current membership base. Our ability to continue to attract and retain members will depend in part on our ability to consistently provide our members in countries around the globe with compelling content choices that keep our members engaged with our service, effectively drive conversation around our content and service, as well as provide a quality experience for choosing and enjoying TV series, films and games. Our penetration and growth rates have fluctuated and vary across the jurisdictions where we provide our service. In countries where we have been operating for many years or where we are highly penetrated, our membership growth is slower than in newer or less penetrated countries. Furthermore, the relative service levels, content offerings, pricing and related features of competitors to our service may adversely impact our ability to attract and retain members. Competitors include other entertainment video providers, such as linear television, streaming entertainment providers (including those that provide pirated content), video gaming providers, open content platform providers, which provide access to user-generated and professionally produced content, as well as more broadly against other sources of entertainment, such as social media, that our members could choose in their moments of free time.

Members cancel our service for many reasons, including a perception that they do not use the service sufficiently, that they need to cut household expenses, dissatisfaction with content, including any advertisements that may appear on our service, a preference for competitive services and customer service issues that they believe are not satisfactorily resolved. Adverse macroeconomic conditions, including as a result of inflation, may also adversely impact our ability to attract and retain members. If we do not grow as expected, given, in particular, that our content costs are largely fixed in nature, we may not be able to adjust our expenditures or increase our revenues, including by adjusting membership pricing, commensurate with the lowered growth rate such that our margins, liquidity and results of operations may be adversely impacted. If we are unable to successfully compete with current and new competitors in providing compelling content, retaining our existing members and attracting new members, our business will be adversely affected.

If we do not continuously provide value to our members, including making improvements to our service in a manner that is favorably received by them, our revenue, results of operations and business will be adversely affected.

If consumers do not perceive our service offering to be of value, including if we introduce new or adjust existing features, adjust pricing or service offerings, or change the mix of content in a manner that is not favorably received by them, we may not be able to attract and retain members, and accordingly, our revenue and results of operations may be adversely affected. We expanded our entertainment video offering to include games and live programming. If our efforts to sustain and improve our existing TV and film offering, as well as develop and expand our video entertainment options, are not done in a manner valued by our current and future members, our ability to attract and retain members may be negatively impacted. We may also seek to extend our business into new products and services to help drive growth. For example, we continue to expand our offering of consumer products and live experiences. To the extent we cannot successfully find and develop new products, experiences and services to help drive growth, or we do not realize the expected benefits or generate additional revenue from such new products, experiences, and services, our future results of operations and growth may be adversely impacted.

We have and may, from time to time, adjust our membership pricing, our membership plans, or our pricing model itself, including for example, the lower-priced ad-supported subscription plan. Similarly, we have increased enforcement of and will continue to enforce our terms of use to limit multi-household usage and shared viewing outside of a household. These and other adjustments we make may not be well-received by consumers, and could negatively impact our ability to attract and retain members, revenue and our results of operations. In addition, many of our members join our service or originate from word-of-mouth advertising from existing members. If our efforts to satisfy our existing members or adjustments to our service are not successful, we may not be able to attract or retain members, and as a result, our ability to maintain and/or grow our business will be adversely affected.

Changes in competitive offerings for entertainment video could adversely impact our business.

The market for entertainment video is intensely competitive and subject to rapid change. Through new and existing distribution channels, consumers have increasing options to access entertainment video. The various economic models underlying these channels include subscription, which may be handled with other services, transactional, ad-supported and piracy-based models. All of these have the potential to capture meaningful segments of the entertainment video the further our commitment level for the full year, we continue to expect a ratio of approximately $2.50, and an annual cash content spend to amortization ratio of ~1.1x.

Our capital allocation approach is unchanged. We prioritize reinvestment in the business, both organically and through selective M&A, while maintaining a healthy balance sheet and ample liquidity, and then returning excess cash to shareholders via share repurchases. In April, our Board of Directors authorized the repurchase of an additional $25B of our stock on top of the $6.8B of capacity we had remaining as of the end of Q1. In Q2, we bought back $4.7B of stock, our largest quarter of share our business activities. While the ultimate outcome of investigations, inquiries, information requests and related legal proceedings is difficult to predict, such matters can be expensive, time-consuming and distracting, and adverse resolutions or settlements of those matters may result in, among other things, modification of our business practices, reputational harm or costs and significant payments, any of which could negatively affect our business operations and financial position.

Our advertising offering is subject to various risks and uncertainties, which may adversely affect our business.

We have limited experience and operating history offering advertising on our service, and our advertising revenue may not grow as we expect. Our ability to generate advertising revenue is subject to various risks and will depend on a number of factors, including:

• our ability to attract and retain advertisers

content commitments may limit our flexibility in planning for, or reacting to changes in our business and the market segments in which we operate. If we license and/or produce content that is not favorably received by consumers in a territory, or is unable to be shown in a territory, acquisition and retention may be adversely impacted and given the long-term and fixed cost nature of our content commitments, we may not be able to adjust our content offerings quickly and our results of operations may be adversely impacted.

We may seek additional capital that may result in stockholder dilution or that may have rights senior to those of our common stockholders.

From time to time, we may seek to obtain additional capital, either through equity, equity-linked or debt securities. The decision to obtain additional capital will depend on, among other things, our business plans, operating performance and condition of the capital markets. Rising interest rates or any disruption in the capital markets could make it more difficult and expensive for us to raise additional capital or refinance our existing indebtedness. If we raise additional funds through the issuance of equity, equity-linked or debt securities, those securities may have rights, preferences or privileges senior to the rights of our common stock, and our stockholders may experience dilution. Any large equity or equity-linked offering could also negatively impact our stock price.

We have a substantial amount of indebtedness and other obligations, including streaming content obligations, which could adversely affect our financial position, and we may not be able to generate sufficient cash to service our debt and other obligations.

We have a substantial amount of debt, including debt obligations, including streaming content obligations. Moreover, our operations are capital intensive.

Fellow shareholders,

- Our financial performance remains solid and we're on track to meet our objectives for the year:
 - Q2 revenue grew 13% year over year (+12% on a FX-neutral basis¹) to $12.6B, and operating margin was 33%. Both were in-line with our guidance.
 - For 2026, we've narrowed our forecasted revenue range to $51.0-$51.4B and continue to forecast an operating margin of 31.5%, both consistent with our prior guidance.
- We're delivering increasing value to our members; engagement is healthy, reflecting the quality, quantity, and variety of our offering:
 - Harlan Coben's I Will Find You is our most viewed new original series debut in 2026 and Swapped is on its way to becoming our second most viewed original animated film ever.
 - View hours grew +2% in H1'26 vs. +1.5% growth in 2025, despite the competitive impact of the Winter Olympics and the World Cup this year.
 - To better satisfy members, we're continuing to expand the variety of our entertainment offering with video podcasts, creators like Danny Go! and Salish & Jordan Matter, and cloud TV games.
- The results of our recent price changes are consistent with prior changes and our expectations.
- We are leveraging AI to provide a more personalized, immersive and interactive experience for members, enhance ads capabilities for brands, and improve the quality of our series and films.
- The entertainment industry remains dynamic and competitive. We aim to stay ahead by executing against our three areas of focus: delivering more entertainment value, leveraging technology to improve every aspect of our service, and improving monetization.

Our summary results, and forecast for Q3, are below.

Spencer Adam Neumann
Chief Financial Officer

Yes, sure. Sure. Thanks, Steve. So look, we don't manage the business on a quarter-to-quarter basis. Our goal is to sustain healthy revenue and profit growth. We talked about that in our letter every quarter. We're guiding, as you say, to 12% revenue growth in Q3 reported, 11% FX neutral. The Q3 revenue drivers are very similar to Q2. It's primarily growth in our subscription revenue from increases in memberships and pricing and higher ads revenue. We continue to see healthy acquisition and retention trends on the membership side and our recent price adjustments are going well on the pricing side.

Now recall, there is a little bit of quarter-to-quarter choppiness in growth because last year was more back half weighted. So that may be a little bit of what you see in the deceleration. But honestly, it's not what we manage to. We manage to the full year. And halfway through the year, we're making strong progress against our goals, and we're tracking to our financial plan for 2026. We expect to deliver another strong year with, as we saw -- as you see in the guide, 13% to 14% top line growth for the full year. That's roughly 12% FX neutral or about $6 billion of incremental revenue year-over-year.

And by the way, when we finish 2026, it's worth saying also that in many ways, we're still just getting started as a company. We're entertaining an audience approaching 1 billion people with still lots of room to grow into our addressable market on every measure. We're under 45% penetrated into addressable households around the world. It's roughly 800 million addressable households. We're capturing, we think, just 7% of addressable revenue market. It's about $670 billion of addressable revenue in the countries and categories in which we operate today. And we estimate that we're only about 5% of TV view share globally. So we're delivering on our 2026 plan, and we believe we've got lots and lots of runway for solid growth ahead of us.

Spencer Wang
Vice President of Finance, Corporate Development & Investor Relations

Thanks, Spence, for that thorough answer. I'll now move us along to a topic on the topic of engagement where we do have several questions. This first one is from Rob Sanderson of Loop Capital Markets. His question is, management has stated that engagement quality is improving even as reported viewing hours per member have softened. Can you help investors understand what internal metrics provide confidence and how these translate into lower churn, pricing power, higher ads monetization, et cetera? At what point would slow growth in total viewing hours become a concern?

Gregory K. Peters
Co-CEO, President & Director

I'll take this one and unpack it a bit since I know that there's plenty of interest in this topic. Start by saying there is not a linear relationship between view hours and revenue and profit because all hours are not created equal. All hours don't provide the same kind of value to the business. And a really great example of this is live programming. So live events do a lot of lifting for us for acquisition. They're good for monetization. They drive ad revenue, fandom. They're also a promotional platform, but they do not yield typically as many raw view hours. So live, we expect will be 5% of our content budget this year, but we think that will only be 1% of view hours.

Having said that, 6 out of top 10 new member sign-up days over the past 5 years have come from live events. And if you compare that to another content category, take animation series, kids family TV, it's also about 5% of our content spend, so the same amount of spend, but it's going to drive, we expect 8% of view hours. So same spend and 8x the raw view hours. You can see the differences there, even though because as indicated by the amount that we're investing in both those categories being the same, we think they're

Business Highlights

In 2025, we surpassed 325 million paid memberships, achieved approximately $45.2 billion in revenue, representing approximately 16% year-over-year growth, and over $13.3 billion of operating income, as well as increased our net cash provided by operating activities to over $10.1 billion. We also made great progress growing advertising revenue, which rose strategy this year, including the addition of several new titles. How are these games performing on the platform so far? And how should we expect the video game offering to evolve going forward?

Gregory K. Peters
Co-CEO, President & Director

Yes, I'll start by reminding folks of the market opportunity here. This is roughly $150 billion in consumer spend ex China, ex Russia, doesn't include ads revenue. We've been building some solid foundations and now we're seeing exciting positive signals that help inform and give us increased conviction in our future growth and the nature of that growth here. So you mentioned the cloud-based

We operate as one operating segment. Our revenues are primarily derived from monthly membership fees for services related to streaming content to our members. See Note 13, Segment and Geographic Information, in the accompanying notes to our consolidated financial statements for further detail.

COMPETITION

The market for entertainment video is intensely competitive and subject to rapid change. We compete with a broad set of activities for consumers' leisure time, including other entertainment video providers, such as linear television, streaming entertainment providers (including those that provide pirated content), video gaming providers, open content platform providers, which provide access to user-generated and professionally produced content, as well as more broadly against other sources of entertainment, such as social media, that our members could choose in their moments of free time. We also compete against entertainment video providers and content producers in obtaining content for our service, both for licensed content and for original content projects.

While consumers may maintain simultaneous relationships with multiple entertainment sources, we strive for consumers to choose us in their moments of free time. We have often referred to this choice as our objective of "winning moments of truth." In attempting to win these moments of truth with our members, value that we are delivering. Those same signals inform all of our price change. They include the ones that we've made in the first half of this year, and they help us determine that timing and magnitude that you're getting at. I think also I would be remiss if I didn't use this opportunity to state that I believe that we are delivering one of the best entertainment values that has ever existed.

As a comparison point, if you go to the U.S. and you take what Netflix subscribers are paying, they pay the least per hour of viewing compared to comparable SVOD offerings. In some cases, they would have to pay twice as much per hour for a competitive service. And our ads plan at $8.99 in the United States, we think, is an amazing entry point. It's an incredible value, highly accessible. If you think about all the entertainment you get for that, it's a pretty good deal.

Well, I'll take this, if you don't mind, guys. Dan, we're not going to comment on market speculation, but I'd like to take the opportunity to remind everyone about our core philosophy. We have multiple ways to achieve our goals, producing, licensing, partnering, and we're constantly seeking ways to allocate our resources in the most attractive options to maximize value for our members and delivering for a return for our investors. As we've said, we are primarily builders, not buyers, and that remains the case today. So others will speculate about our intent to -- here because they have their own reasons for that. But our track record is clear that we have a very high bar to do any big M&A.

I'll take that. So you're right, Jessica, we do benefit in a number of ways from the tremendous scale that we worked so hard to build over the last 20 years. We've invested in a number of areas of the business. Look at our tech investment where we spend billions of dollars every year. And as a result, we have best-in-class discovery, personalization, plus a bunch of great R&D and innovation, including in production, in distribution, in data that we can draw on to constantly improve every aspect of the business and the breadth and depth of our content catalog.

These in combination all deliver this kind of flywheel of advantages. We have the biggest, most engaged audience in the world. Creators and advertisers love that. We lead the industry in monetization. We have better programming ROI because we amortize across this global footprint and that -- very often, that programming is very travelable. This is good for our members. It's good for our business. It creates a really healthy model for organic growth. Greg mentioned TF1 earlier. I think it's being able to bring that scale to work with partners like TF1 in France to bring content to our members in multiple ways and multiple business models. I think that including our production to content, streaming delivery costs, and other operating costs.

Expenses related to the acquisition, licensing and production of content not included in content amortization may include payroll, stock-based compensation, facilities, and other personnel-related expenses, costs associated with obtaining rights to music included in our content, overall deals with talent, miscellaneous production-related costs and participations and residuals. Streaming delivery costs are primarily related to our global content delivery network ("Open Connect"). We have built our own Open Connect network to help us efficiently stream a high volume of content to our members over the internet. Delivery expenses, therefore, include equipment costs related to Open Connect, payroll and related personnel expenses and all third-party costs, such as cloud computing costs, associated with delivering content over the internet. Other operating costs include customer service and payment processing fees, including

Yes. Our first half price changes, these are markets like U.S., Mexico, Spain. They've gone well. The results are consistent with prior price changes. They're consistent with our expectations. So we aren't seeing any real changes in that performance. And then with regard to timing and magnitude, we really go back to that top-level macro question we've got of have we delivered sufficient value to our members. We're constantly looking at the signals that help us understand that question, of course, plan selection, plan movement. We've got retention, which is industry-leading.

So we see improvements in value delivered start to move well in advance of making price adjustments, and then we price behind that value that we are delivering. Those same signals inform all of our price change. They include the ones that we've made in the first half

Netflix is deeply embedded and invested in the creative industries around the world, producing TV series and films in more than 50 countries, and contributing more than $325 billion in gross value to the global economy.

If our efforts to attract and retain members are not successful, our business will be adversely affected.

And by the way, when we finish 2026, it's worth saying also that in many ways, we're still just getting started as a company. We're entertaining an audience approaching 1 billion people with still lots of room to grow into our addressable market on every measure. We're under 45% penetrated into addressable households around the world. It's roughly 800 million addressable households. We're capturing, we think, just 7% of addressable revenue market. It's about $670 billion of addressable revenue in the countries and categories in which we operate today. And we estimate that we're only about 5% of TV view share globally. So we're delivering on our 2026 plan, and we believe we've got lots and lots of runway for solid growth ahead of us.

And finally, Jessica, I'd say regarding consolidation, the industry has been consolidating for over 10 years. So this isn't new. We focus all of our energy on pleasing our members and sustaining healthy growth for the business.

Revenues

We primarily derive revenues from monthly membership fees for services related to streaming content to our members. We offer a variety of streaming membership plans, the price of which varies by country and the features of the plan. As of December 31, 2025, pricing on our paid plans ranged from the U.S. dollar equivalent of $1 to $37 per month, and pricing on our extra member sub accounts ranged from the U.S. dollar equivalent of $2 to $9 per month. We expect that from time to time the prices of our membership plans in each country may change and we may test other plan and price variations.

Quantity of engagement is also important and, as detailed in our bi-annual What We Watched report, in the first half of 2026, our members watched more than 97 billion hours, up 2% year over year. This was slightly faster than the 1.5% growth in 2025, despite the competitive impact of the Winter Olympics and the World Cup this year. Non-English content again drove more than a third of all viewing this half, with standout titles from Korea, Japan, Spain, and India.

In light of the compelling consumer proposition, piracy services are subject to rapid global growth, and our efforts to prevent that growth may be insufficient. If we are unable to successfully or profitably compete with current and new competitors and win moments of truth, our business will be adversely affected, and we may not be able to increase or maintain market share, revenues or profitability.

We face risks, such as unforeseen costs and potential liability in connection with content we acquire, produce, license and/or distribute through our service.

engagement is important to our business, but as discussed above, engagement is not just the quantity of view hours, but also refers to the quality and variety of our offering. To make this clearer, we're making a change to our view hours disclosure.

After today's What We Watched report, which covers the first half of 2026, we will shift to publishing this report annually in the first quarter, beginning in 2027. The goal of separating the publication of the report from our earnings results is to keep the focus on our primary financial metrics – revenue and operating profit. With this change, we will still report industry-leading title-by-title and total view hours.
